

THE GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, JUNE 16.

A physician in a country town in Massachusetts, who had been annoyed by numerous questions concerning the condition of a patient, was stopped while on his rounds by a man with the old question, "How's M.?" "Sick," replied the physician. "Does he keep his bed?" "Of course he does; you don't suppose he's fool enough to sell his bed because he's sick, do you?"

During a trial the judge called a witness. No one answering, an elderly man arose and solemnly said, "He is gone." "Where has he gone?" asked the judge, in no tender tone. "I don't know; but he is dead," was the guarded answer.

It's astonishing, says the New Orleans Bulletin, to see how little there is of some ladies in these days of contracted skirts. And it is equally astonishing to see how much there is of some others.

A young man in a music shop was lately overpowered by a fastidious young lady, who wanted to purchase "Mr. Hood's—a—song of the—a—gentleman's under-garment!" The young man is still alive.

"On which side of the platform is my train?" asked a stranger in a Jersey City depot the other day. "Well, my friend," replied a gentleman, passing, "if you take the left, you'll be right, if you take the right, you'll be left."

A correspondent of a Western paper having described the Ohio as a "sickly stream," the editor appended the remark: "That's so—it is confined to its bed."

Spotted Tail has appeared in his spring suit. It is neat but not gaudy—a blue blazer, a pair of blue flannel trousers, and a white round-topped hat.

"What a shame that I should be starving!" exclaimed a poor corset-maker out of work—"I that have stayed the stomachs of hundreds."

A bachelor made a will leaving his property to the girls who had refused him; "For to them I owe all my earthly happiness."
